SETTLING STRIKE.

Albany Company Consents to Meet Strikers and Discuss Terms.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, May 17.—It looks as if the strike would be settled to-day by a compromise, both sides giving away a little.
Here's the strike situation at this time: A delegation of strikers will meet the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the United Traction Company at 4 o'clock for the purpose of discussing a settlement of the strike.
There were present, in addition to President Robert C. Pruyn and the other members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the company, the following representing the strikers: Patrick Doherty, of the Central Federation of Labor of Albany; Attorney William D. Woodward, attorney for the strikers; President Van Allen, J. V. Lundrigan and Edward Coloney, of the Troy organization of the strikers; President J. F. Sheehan, Vice-President Vaughan and William Dunn, of the Albany organization of the strikers.

The announcement of the conference came this afternoon in a letter from President Robert C. Pruyn, of the United Traction Company, to Mayor Blessing.
The directors of the traction company were in session for three hours at the office of their attorneys, and Mayor Blessing and Corporation Counsel Andrews spent some time with them. At 2 o'clock they gave out the letter announcing the company's decision.

The chief difficulty that bars the way to a settlement is the policy of the company toward the strikers known to have been guilty of violence.
The strikers insist that if they go back that it be in a body, while the company objects to re-employing men who have injured its property or assaulted its new men.
The terms of settlement are 20 cents an hour pay, four of the eight non-union men over whom the trouble arose to join the union and the other four to be retained as inspectors.
At 3.20 the Ninth Regiment arrived here. They were sent to the Pearl street power-house of the United Traction Company.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, May 17.—When I was a kid my daddy took a notion to exercise his arm fanning me with a barrel stave," remarked the Philadelphia fan. "He used to tell me that a whaling once in a while would keep me from getting spoiled. Maybe that kind of 'dope' will apply to the Giants. The lambasting they were handed yesterday may keep 'em from getting the 'swelled head'."
Today Davis's young bloods will try to make it three wins out of four against the Basetown ball-tossers. The locals admit that their performance yesterday

Phyle's breeze-stirring curves reminded the Windy City batsmen of home.

GETTING BETTER.

(Special to the Evening World.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Dr. Hirschfeld, one of the local physicians called in consultation by Dr. Rixey, tells The World correspondent that the change in Mrs. McKinley's condition is so radical and astonishing that he is now inclined to believe there may be some chance for her recovery. She is resting comfortably, and no consultation of the physicians will be held until 8 o'clock to-night.
The news from the bedside of Mrs. McKinley today is more hopeful. At 8.45 A. M. Secretary Cortelyou gave out the Kinley today is more hopeful. At 8.45 A. M. Secretary Cortelyou gave out the first official bulletin of the day. Announcing that Mrs. McKinley had passed a restful night and appeared very much improved over her condition of yesterday and last night.

This was the first official news that had been given out since 5 o'clock last night and it came as a relief, not only to those within the Scott residence, but also to the band of watchers that had kept weary vigil through the long hours of the night.
The President, who was up a greater portion of the night, got some sleep during the early morning hours. He is quite cheered by the favorable turn in Mrs. McKinley's condition.

CALLAWAY OUT.

Harvey Fisk & Sons, bankers, formally announced this afternoon that Samuel R. Callaway, President of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, had resigned to become the head of the new American Locomotive Company, the gigantic trust formed by J. Pierpont Morgan.
It was understood that Mr. Callaway's salary would be commensurate with the vast responsibility of the position to which his broad technical knowledge fits him.
The announcement created a stir in Wall street and the stock of the International Power Company, which is a factor of the big combination, was given an impulse which sent it up four points.
Mr. Callaway left his office at noon today, saying he would not return until tomorrow. It is surmised that he has gone to Philadelphia, where the representatives of the trust are meeting today.

When inquiry was made at the Grand Central Station the officials expressed the liveliest surprise. Senator Depew was also absent and Mr. Duval could give no confirmation to the report.

He is fifty-one years old and was born in Toronto, Ont. His motto is "Always be polite." He has been in the railroad business since he was thirteen years old.
In 1881 he was made Second Vice-President of the Union Pacific Company and General Manager of the branch lines, a position which he resigned to become President of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City Railroad.
The presidency of the Nickel Plate followed and later the presidency of the Lake Shore. Finally came the greatest railroad presidency of all, that of the New York Central. And now comes the headship of the gigantic locomotive trust.

TOLD IN TABLOIDS.

WASHINGTON BROKERS' FAILURE—The Habitués of Garley & Johnson, the Washington, D. C., brokers who failed yesterday, have been placed at $100,000. An auction crowd besieges the office.
NET ON BRIDGE CRUSH—The Board of Engineers appointed to consider plans to avoid the Brooklyn Bridge crash met to-day and organized. It is expected that the Board will make no report for a month at least.
BRENNER CAN'T GET OFFICE—William E. Melody, former Commissioner of Javna for Brooklyn, still refuses to give up his office to Jacob Brenner, his successor. The case may be taken to the courts.

FOR PAMING BAD CHECK—Charles E. Wildricks, who was convicted of passing a worthless check for $200 on the Hotel Gerard, was to-day sentenced to six months' imprisonment.
I've been taking care of twenty-eight small-pox patients and this is the chance I get for it. I wish the whole bunch of you were over here."
The audience heard her, but the Magistrate did not. He may have wondered what made the crowd hustle to the street.
Magistrate Mayo discharged Jennie.

IT MAY BE POISON.

What caused the death of the Rev. Edward S. Phillips, of Hazleton, Pa., is as much a mystery as ever.
The autopsy held on the body at the morgue this afternoon disclosed no marks of violence.
A quantity of dark brown fluid was found in the stomach.
This may be poison, but a chemical analysis will have to be made to determine it.
At the conclusion of the autopsy performed by Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon in the presence of Coroner Bausch and Assistant District-Attorney Garvan this statement was made by Coroner Bausch:

SMALL-POX CLEARED COURT.
North Brother Island Nurse Was the Prisoner.
Jennie Clark, fifty-one years old, who has been employed as a nurse on North Brother Island, was charged with intoxication in the Morrisania Court this morning.

She misbehaved on the island last night and Dr. Rae was compelled to cause her arrest.
The usual crowd was in court. A moment before her case was called she turned to the audience and remarked:

CAME IN COACH TO DESERT BABY

Waif Put on Church Steps from Splendid Carriage.

A girl baby, one month old, was taken to Grace Episcopal Church, Jersey City, this afternoon in a finely appointed carriage and left a foundling on the steps, while the handsomely dressed woman who placed her there drove rapidly away.
The curiosity of some little girls who were playing near revealed the contents of the bundle and the baby will live.
It was about 2.30 when the carriage stopped at the corner of Second and Erie streets. There was a liveried coachman on the box and as he pulled up the horses a woman about twenty-five years old stepped out with a bundle.
She was a blonde, pretty, and dressed in a tailor-made gown of black.
She walked to the steps of the church, laid the bundle down carefully, hurried back to the carriage and disappeared up Second street.
The children investigated and notified the police. The baby was taken to the City Hospital and the police are trying to find the woman.

HURRY COST HIM LEGS.

Zeek Jumped from Moving Train and May Lose His Life.
Ernest Zeek's hurry to get off an Erie train at Provost street, Jersey City, cost him both legs to-day and may cost him his life.
Zeek lives in Secaucus, N. J. The train slowed up at Provost street and Zeek thought he could get off there and save time. Just as he was swinging off the train started forward at increased speed and the man was drawn under the wheels.
His legs were cut off just below the knees. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital, where the surgeons are trying to save his life.

THREE BURNED IN FIERCE BLAZE

Brooklyn Fire Injures Two Men and a Boy.

A dangerous fire in the Masury Varnish Works, No. 187 Plymouth street, Brooklyn, this afternoon caused several thousand dollars damage and severely burned two men and a boy.
The fire was dangerously near the large Arbuckle coffee works, and for a time it seemed certain that these would be ignited. Three alarms were sent in and a horde of firemen surrounded the building.
In spite of their efforts the flames spread dangerously, but the department was finally able to get it under control and save the Arbuckle property and other adjoining buildings.
Those burned were John Thomas and his son and Thomas Scott, all employed in the varnish works. They were caught in the rapidly spreading flames among the inflammable material and badly burned in making their escape.
Ambulances removed them to hospitals. Many other employees had narrow escapes. There was much excitement when the fire was at its height as it seemed that a disastrous blaze could not be avoided.
The fire was not brought under control until the fire boats arrived on the scene. The huge streams from the river won the day for the department.
The fire started in an explosion in the mixing-room, where the three injured employees were at work. The damage is estimated at $35,000.
